

WASC 1756
WAI 445

2.

~~James A. Daniel~~

~~Mr
W/A
C. P. Gray
Library~~

GUNPOWDER...

It consisteth of three essentiall ingredients:

- 1. BRIMSTONE, whose office is to catch fire and flame of a suddain, and convey it to the other two.
- 2. CHAR-COAL pulveriz'd, which continueth the fire, and quencheth the flame, which otherwise would consume the strength thereof.
- 3. SALT-PETRE, which causeth a windy exhalation, and driveth forth the bullet.

Thomas Fuller

The Worthies of England, 1662

D. Loggan sculp

The Graver here hath well thy Face design'd.
But no hand FULLER can expresse thy Mind
For That a RESURRECTION gives to those Whom Silent Monuments did long enclose.

